Tennessee Farmers and Freeholders acknowledges this desperate hour and our collective need to breathe new hope into Tennessee's small farms by rallying, organizing, and fighting for them. Our ancient rights to care for our families and ourselves as we deem fit demand that we speak and work to free ourselves from the bondage of legislation that hinders our livelihood and health. Moreover, the times call us to work to relentlessly roll back the regulations that now cripple our rights to raise livestock, hold dear our privacy, and nourish ourselves. Whether we work through seminars that promote financial freedom, through farming field days and education, through legislation, if we can free Tennesseans to rule their lives under the care of a loving, Sovereign God, we will.
